

About the Editors

CECILE ANDREWS is the author of Slow is Beautiful: New Visions of Community, Leisure, and Joie de Vivre as well as Circle of Simplicity: Return to the Good Life. She is a founder of the Phinney EcoVillage, a neighborhood project in Seattle building sustainability and community. A former community college administrator, Cecile has her doctorate in education from Stanford University. She now focuses on community education, helping people live simpler, slower, and smaller. See cecileandrews.com and phinneyecovillage.net.

WANDA URBANSKA is the author or co-author of seven books, including Simple Living: Nothing's Too Small to Make a Difference and Moving to a Small Town. She is host/producer of the nationally syndicated public television series Simple Living with Wanda Urbanska, which has produced four broadcast seasons (SimpleLivingTV.net). A graduate of Harvard University, Urbanska has published in the Washington Post, Los Angeles Times, Chicago Tribune, Mother Earth News, and Natural Home, among others.

