INTRODUCTION

This finding aid is classified as a numerical list because it describes the fonds at the file level. Descriptive notes have also been prepared for the overall presentation of the fonds as well as for each series. The different levels of description thus enable researchers to locate the information by proceeding from the general to the specific.

The descriptive note for each file contains a file code, the title, the inclusive dates, the type of record (textual records, audio discs, photographs, etc.), the number or linear quantity of textual records and the number of iconographic or audio records, a description of the file’s content when it contains different types of records, and a section reserved for notes. This part is important because it contains information on any restrictions to file access, the nature of the records (originals and copies) and reference numbers for any sound recordings. In addition to the preceding elements, the introductions to the fonds and the series also include a biographical sketch (for the fonds only), a section devoted to the scope of the records and an area for comments concerning the description of certain records, among other things.

This finding aid does not contain any files marked “undated”. Whenever undated records were encountered, a date was assigned and described using the following recording conventions: [1959?]: probable date; [ca. 1950]: approximate date; [197-]: decade certain; [197-?]: probable decade.

The file code, which enables files to be located quickly and accurately, is structured as follows:

MUS 279/A1/2,5

MUS: Repository (Music Division)
279: Fonds (Jacques Hétu fonds)
A: Series (Studies)
1: Sub-series (Conservatoire de musique du Québec à Montréal)
2: Sub-sub-series (Assignments)
5: File (Composition: Nocturne for oboe and piano)

The numerical list is accompanied by an index of proper names and titles. The references in this index are to file codes, not to page numbers. For simplicity, the first two elements of the file codes have been omitted (for example, MUS 279/A1/2,5 becomes A1/2,5). In addition, an index of files has been established to match file codes with box numbers.

Lastly, this finding aid adheres to the standards prescribed in the Rules for Archival Description, prepared by the Bureau of Canadian Archivists.

Biographical Sketch

Born in Trois-Rivières, Quebec, in 1938, Jacques Hétu began his musical studies at the University of Ottawa which included the study of Gregorian chant with Father Jules Martel. He continued his training at the Conservatoire de musique du Québec à Montréal from 1956 to 1961 where his courses included composition and counterpoint with Clermont Pépin, harmony with Isabelle Delorme and fugue with Jean Papineau-Couture. In the summer of 1959, he enrolled in Lukas Foss’s composition course at the Berkshire Music Center in Tanglewood, Massachusetts. Thanks to the Prix d’Europe, the Quebec Music Festivals prize and a Canada Council grant, the young artist left for Paris in 1961 to study composition with Henri Dutilleux at the École normale de musique (1961-63) and analysis with Olivier Messiaen at the Conservatoire de Paris (1962-63). Those very fruitful years of learning enabled him to refine his writing techniques and produced several works including two symphonies, a Prélude for orchestra (Opus 5) and a Trio for flute, oboe and harpsichord (Opus 3, No. 2).

In 1963, Jacques Hétu returned to Canada and embarked on his teaching career at the Université Laval (1963-77) where he taught courses in music literature, analysis, orchestration and composition. He began teaching music analysis at the Université du Québec à Montréal in 1979 and also became the director of its music department from 1980 to 1982 and from 1986 to 1988. In both 1972 and 1978, Hétu was also invited to teach composition courses at the Université de Montréal.

A world-reputed artistic talent, Hétu was commissioned to compose numerous works including Fantaisie for piano and orchestra (Institut international de musique du Canada, 1973), Les Djinns (Alliance chorale canadienne, 1975), Antinomie (National Arts Centre Corporation, 1977), Mirages (Orchestre des jeunes du Québec, 1981), Images de la Révolution (Orchestre symphonique de Montréal, 1988) and the Sonata for Thirteen Instruments (Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, 1996). In 1990, the composer accompanied Pinchas Zukerman and Ottawa’s National Arts Centre Orchestra on a major European tour during which they performed his Symphony No. 3 and the work Antinomie. Following a 1994 concert featuring Le Tombeau de Nelligan, François Tousignant wrote, “...the tones that Hétu brings out in the orchestra shimmer with a modernism that could be a lesson to many who emulate inventive sound combinations in orchestral arrangements”[tr] (Le Devoir, November 29, 1994). An eclectic composer, Hétu rose above the divergent musical trends and brought us richly toned lyrical music.

The records in this series illustrate Jacques Hétu’s composing and the diversity of his work since the 1950s. Enamoured with the poetry of Émile Nelligan, Hétu used several of the poet’s texts in his works Les Clartés de la nuit, Les Abîmes du rêve and Les Illusions fanées. His symphonic work Le Tombeau de Nelligan was inspired by Nelligan’s poetic spirit. Among the composer’s other works, we should mention the Concerto pour guitare et orchestre à cordes, the Concerto pour flûte et orchestre, the Concerto pour ondes Martenot et orchestre, the symphonic fresco L’Apocalypse, the Sérénade, the Quatuor à cordes n° 2, the Sonate pour violon et piano, the Variations for organ, Les Djinns, the Missa pro trecentesimo anno and the opera Le Prix on a libretto by author Yves Beauchemin. During his career, Jacques Hétu also composed the music for several films including Le Prix de l’eau (Richard Lavoie) and Au pays de Zom (Gilles Groulx).

This series contains sketches, drafts, manuscripts of Jacques Hétu’s musical works, notes, copies of poems and different versions of Yves Beauchemin’s libretto.

The series consists of the following sub-series: MUS 279/C1 Early Works; MUS 279/C2 Orchestra; MUS 279/C3 Soloist(s) and Orchestra; MUS 279/C4 Chamber Music; MUS 279/C5 Solo Instrument; MUS 279/C6 Choir; MUS 279/C7 Opera; MUS 279/C8 Film Music; MUS 279/C9 Other.

In standardizing the description of a work’s instrumentation, we have opted for a generally accepted musical codification system. For example, the figures “3. 2. 2. 2 - 4. 3. 3. 1” denote the following instrumentation: 3 flutes, 2 oboes, 2 clarinets, 2 bassoons, 4 French horns, 3 trumpets, 3 trombones and 1 tuba. Blocks of figures separated by a dash correspond to the woodwind and brass sections and follow the traditional order in which the various instruments appear on a score. If a musician plays a second instrument, this is indicated by placing the abbreviation for the auxiliary instrument in parentheses (e.g., 3(picc) = 3 flutes plus 1 piccolo played by one of the three flautists). And if performing the work requires the presence of an additional musician for an auxiliary instrument, this is indicated using the “+” symbol (e.g., 2+cbn = 2 bassoons plus a third musician for the contrabassoon). Catalogues of musical works do not always name auxiliary instruments but merely indicate their presence by an asterisk (*3) or underlining (4). For the description of archival records, we prefer to ascribe some significance to auxiliary instruments, since they enrich the orchestra with particular sound qualities.
